Know your kids. Don't just know what they like, know what makes them tick. Know what they look forward to everyday and how they express and receive love. Know their strengths.

Strengths-Based Parenting

Each child has powerful natural talents – his or her superpowers! – that should be recognized and celebrated. In the Ontario-Montclair School District, we try to identify and nurture these talents and the potential they hold. We put the focus on what's strong, not what's wrong. Join us for a free 90-minute workshop that helps you apply these positive principles at home.

This workshop provides practical tips for:

- Recognizing your child's most powerful talents
- Helping your child build talents into lifelong strengths
- Leveraging strengths when a weakness gets in the way
- Creating a positive environment with strength-based praise and recognition

When you use these tips to identify and support your child's unique talents, you unlock their superpowers. Please join us as we celebrate the potential in each and every child!
