Spartan Code of Student Expectations (Online Learning)

	Google Classroom and School Loop	Zoom Meetings
Respect	- When online respond to teachers and peers in a kind and supportive manner in all written and spoken forms. - Communicate with teachers in a timely manner. - Value everyone's contribution to the online class.	- Mute your microphone and raise hand to speak. - Show that you value the opportunity for yourself and others to learn. - Show that you value the teacher that is providing the opportunity to grow. - Speak in a kind and supportive manner during zoom sessions. - Attend zoom sessions in a professional manner, as if you were on campus.
Integrity	- Turn in your own work. - Be thoughtful in responses. - Ask questions to ensure you and your classmates understand. - Complete assignments and assessments with the proper resources given by teacher. - Share ideas that help others learn and come to answers on their own. - Seek help from your teacher or classmates. - Take this opportunity to figure out what you know and work on what you do not know. - Stay true to your goals.	- When on zoom, have your camera and audio turned on. - Ensure your username includes your first and last name. - Ask questions to ensure you and your classmates understand. - Be present and attentive during zoom sessions; reduce any distractions around you during this time. - If you are having technology difficulties, use your time to revise notes, read, and use paper and pencil until you are able to resolve the issue. - Communicate with your teachers if you have technology issues by calling Serrano Middle School.
Responsibility	- Complete required assignments on time. - Put your full effort into every assignment. - Communicate with your family about your progress and what you need to succeed. - Do your work daily. - Set up a daily routine, which includes class time as well as practice/homework time. - Use all the tools made available to you to enhance your success. - Take action to improve at skills you have not yet mastered, part of learning is struggling through difficult tasks.	- Be on time to your virtual classroom - Ensure your computer is charged, powered up, logged on, and connected to the internet before your zoom session begins. - Have your materials out and ready before logging on to zoom sessions (Note paper, agenda, pencil, textbooks, etc) - Come to zoom sessions prepared with completed assignments. - Take notes during zoom sessions. - Maintain an academic, professional demeanor during class meetings. - Take care of your personal needs during breaks and in between zoom sessions (restroom, water, snacks, etc) - Participate fully in zoom sessions, share your ideas!
Compassion	- Do what you can to make learning meaningful and enjoyable. - Be considerate of others thoughts and ideas. - Support classmates who may need help accessing online materials. - Show compassion by assisting others when you can and accepting help when needed. - Keep a growth mindset for yourself and towards others. (If you are not there yet, you will get there!) - Reach out and ask for support if you or a peer are having a hard time socially or emotionally. - Be a Spartan Upstander!	- Be patient if others are having technical issues. - During a zoom group session, listen when others are speaking. - Show others that you value what others by listening to their thoughts and opinions with interest and free of judgement.